

CALIFORNIA WESTERN INTERNATIONAL LAW JOURNAL

DECEMBER 1972

VOLUME 3

NUMBER 1

CONTENTS

ARTICLES

Arbitration and Latin America

Lionel M. Summers 1

Arbitration with Latin American countries to protect foreign investment and other vested interests south of the U.S. border is a field of expanding importance. In the first of two instalments, the author traces the historical influences that tempered the present Latin American attitude regarding intergovernmental arbitration in lieu of adjudication and dissects the current state versus private arbitration progeny of past arbitral developments.

Humanitarian Intervention: A United Nations Task

B. De Schutter 21

Millions have suffered or died needlessly in natural and man-made crises because national governments have refused or obstructed assistance from relief organizations. The author formulates a plan under which the United Nations could intervene to secure the fundamental human rights of future disaster victims.

COMMENTS

Swiss Banks and Their American Clients:

A Fading Romance John J. Lannan 37

Alien Inheritance Statutes: A Need for International

Uniformity David T. Spurlock, Jr. 60

Do We Live in Alien Nations?

Thomas G. Keywan, Jr. 75

Linguistic Minorities and Their Right to an Effective

Education Christopher J. Reeber 112

Nationalization of U.S. Copper Mines in Chile:

Compensation or Confiscation? Albert F. Quintrall 133

Effluent Neighbors: The Mexico-United States Water
Quality Dilemma Charles R. Johnston, Jr. 152

BOOK REVIEWS

Behrman, National Interests and the Multinational Enterprise:
Tensions Among the North Atlantic Countries
James M. Hawley 174

White, Decision-Making for Space: Law and Politics in Air, Sea, and Outer Space John E. Cavanagh 181

Levie, International Telecommunications and International Law:
The Regulation of the Radio Spectrum
George E. Ashley 184

BOOKS CONSIDERED FOR REVIEW 189

Cite as 3 CALIF. W. INT'L L. J. 000 (1972-73)

Published semi-annually by the CALIFORNIA WESTERN INTERNATIONAL LAW JOURNAL, California Western School of Law, United States International University. Printed by Joe Christensen, Inc., 1540 Adams St., Lincoln, Nebraska 68521. Domestic subscriptions $6.00 per vol.; foreign subscriptions $6.50 per vol. Address all communications to the CALIFORNIA WESTERN INTERNATIONAL LAW JOURNAL, 3902 Lomaland Drive, San Diego, California 92106.

All subscriptions are automatically renewed unless the CALIFORNIA WESTERN INTERNATIONAL LAW JOURNAL is notified to the contrary.

© 1972 by the California Western School of Law
United States International University